

Constantinos Tsoukalas
Professor, University of Athens

Guest Lecture

- “On the Greek Crisis”, 27/3/2013

Professor Constantinos Tsoukalas studied Law in Law School in the University of Athens and Law Philosophy and Philosophy of Sociology in the Universities of Heidelberg, Munich, Paris and Yale. In 1974 he was awarded the Doctor Degree in Letters and Human Sciences in Paris University. Professor of Sociology at the University of Paris (1968-1985) and Professor of Sociology in the Faculty of Political Sciences at the University of Athens (since 1998). He is now Professor Emeritus of the University of Athens.

Selected Recent Publications

(1968) “The Greek Tragedy”

(1976) “Dependence and propagation. The social role of the educational mechanism in Greece”

(1980) “The State and the social development. The constitution of the public domain in Greece”

(1991) “Idols of culture. Freedom, equality, fraternity in the modern state”

(1996) “Journey to the speech and history”

(1999) “Adventure of the meanings. The power as “people” and “nation”

(2000) “War, memory and art”

(2001) “Politics nowadays. Nikos Poulanzas and his well-timed work”

(2002) “Readings”